

majer

rumour has it

- ◆ What makes Australian entrepreneurs tick? It's a question that QUT business researchers intend to answer with a four-year study that will map the progress of 800 emerging businesses across Australia. The $455,000 Australian Research Council-funded study is the largest study of business start-ups and entrepreneurship ever undertaken in Australia and will be led by QUT's Professor Per Davidsson of the Brisbane Graduate School of Business.
- ◆ Fortitude Valley's Majer Recruitment celebrated its fourth birthday last month with a big pat on the back. In its four-year history, the company has won the title of runner-up twice and winner in 2006 of Australia's Favourite Recruiter by SEEK candidates.

- ◆ Hamilton's Portside Wharf has put itself on the international map with a Dream World Cruise Destinations 2006 Award for Most Improved Port Facilities on the back of its ability to cater to vessels of all sizes, their crews and passengers. Needless to say, Brisbane Cruise Terminal Board director Captain John Foley is pretty chuffed.

Heard a good rumour? Email steadl@qst.newsltd.com.au